Lily and the Missing Keys

By Guy Belleranti

Lily's mom couldn't find her keys. They weren't in her pockets or purse.

"Let's look where we put the groceries," Lily said.

"Good idea," Mom said.

They looked in the refrigerator. They looked in the freezer. They looked in the pantry.

"Maybe my keys are in the car," Mom said.

"No," Lily said. "You used them to get in the house."

"You're right, but then where are they?"

"Hmm." Lily thought hard. Suddenly, she smiled. "I have an idea."

She opened the house door to the garage. "Yippee!" she cried. There, in the doorknob were Mom's keys!
