Great Minds: Martin Luther King Jr.

by Lydia Lukidis

You probably know about Martin Luther King Jr. He was a civil rights activist. And he made that famous "I Have a Dream" speech. But he did so much more than that. Let's take a closer look at his life and what he accomplished.

King was born in 1929 in Atlanta. His father was a preacher and his mother was a teacher. He had an older sister and a younger brother. When he was in high school, he was so smart that he skipped two grades. He went to Morehouse College when he was only 15 years old, and got a degree in sociology. He was inspired by King wanted to do something about this. He wanted to make the world a better place. So he fought for equal rights for African Americans. This is what the civil rights movement was all about. He was an activist during the 1950s and 1960s. He wanted people to understand what was going on and that it was not fair. He also wanted to change the laws. He led many peaceful protests to create this change. He was not only the leader of the civil rights movement, but he also helped start it.

One of his first protests was the Montgomery Bus Boycott. (You might remember that during this time Rosa Parks had refused to give up her seat to a white man when she was on a bus. She was arrested on the spot.)

King fought against the public transportation system in Montgomery.

The protest lasted 382 days. It was not an easy battle. King was arrested and his house was bombed. But in the end, King was happy to see that segregation on

Montgomery buses ended. African Americans could sit wherever they wanted.

“ I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up, live out the true meaning of its creed: ‘We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.’ ”

King continued to fight for equality. In 1963, he helped organize the "March on Washington." He wanted to help end segregation in public schools, end discrimination in jobs, and protect the African Americans from police abuse. Over 250,000 people joined the march. That's when King gave his famous "I Have a Dream" speech. The speech was very powerful. And the march was successful. A year later, the Civil Rights Act was passed and African Americans were given their rights.

King was killed in 1968. But his legacy will live on forever. His speeches still inspire us today, and he is still seen as one of the best public speakers. He traveled more than six million miles and gave speeches more than 2,500 times. He was the youngest person to ever win the Nobel Peace Prize. Martin Luther King Jr. Day was even created in his honor. He became the only non-president to have a national holiday in remembrance of him.
